SAY SHE IS STILL INSANE.

EXPERTS BELIEVE MRS. WILMERDING'S RELEASE WOULD BE HER RUIN. Fitch Says That Three Weeks on the Stage Would Make Her a Wreck-Mrs. Bloodgood Denies That She Staried the Proceedings-Mrs. Wilmerding's Letters. WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 25,-E. B. Travis. Dr. C. F. MacDonald and Dr. H. Ernst Schmidt, the commissioners appointed to inquire into the sanity of Mrs. Jack Wilmerding, held another public hearing in the Supreme Court chamber to-day. The first to enter the courtroom were Counsel John B. Gleason and Mrs. Jack Bloodgood, who had been mentioned as the one the started the proceedings for Mrs. Wilmerding's release. They were closely followed by Mrs. Wilmerding, who was in charge of three nurses from Bloomingdale. Mrs. Wilmerding rore a black skirt, purple siik waist, large she entered the courtroom she was very af-fectionately greeted by Mrs. Bloodgood. Attorney Gleason took the stand to deny that he was the attorney for her father, Vanderbilt Allen, and his wife, as Mrs. Wilmerding had stated. Mrs. Jack Bloodgood was the next witness. She testified that she had no part in bringing about the present inquiry, and that she had said nothing to Mr. Levy. Mrs. Wilmerding's lawyer, about the latter's sanity or insanity. She had only returned from Europe on Aug. 15, she said.

Dr. William E. Dold, an expert on insanity was the next witness. At the time Mrs. Wil-merding was sent to Bloomingdale Asylum he was the assistant medical director there and reseived her. "She thought she was at heeley cure," he said, "but when I assured her she was at Bloomingdale she was perfectly sontented. She was very much excited and had delusions that her father was dead and that she had various diseases. At times she became very excited, noisy and violent. Un-der the regular freatment, diet and early hours she improved greatly in bodily health. One of her delusions was that she was the daughter of Lord Rosebery." At this statement Mrs. Wilmerding laughed loudly and Mrs. Blood-

The doctor resumed: "Mrs. Wilmerding said she expected to sail for Europe with Lord Rose-bery, and she had written a letter to Tiffany & Co. to make a diamond crown and a valuable set of jewels which would be becoming and suitable for a daughter of un Earl. She looked upon all in the institution with suspicion and thought they were trying to poison her. Frequently she would rub the skin of her face to et rid of the poison which she thought had teen injected into her face. She said that she had a birthmark upon her face and it had turned jet black. At other times she would scrub her taxly by the hour with a nall brush to get rid of the poison. She would open her window on the coldest winter days and stand there with hardly any clothing upon her. She would destroy bictures of her family, claiming they were no relatives. At times she would place large quantities of vaseline upon her body, claiming that it was for bolis. At various times she said she realized she was in same and had been for years.

Here Mr. Gleason introduced several letters written by Mrs. Wilmerding. Her attorney objected to their admission.

"We do not say that Mrs. Wilmerding was not insune when incareerated in Blooming dale Asylum." he argued. "We say she is now was overruled.

The letters dated from January to July 31. teen injected into her face. She said that she dale Asylum." he argued. "We say she is now sane and should be released." The objection was overruled.

The letters dated from January to July 31. and were disjointed and incoherent in expression. In one of them Mrs. Wilmerding said she knew she had been craxy since she was 5 years old. Another read: "Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales insists on Dr. Lyons attending her wishes at once. Signed, Marie Wilmerding." Another was addressed to President McKinley, appealing for his assistance in securing her release. She charged the asylum authorities with cruel treatment and said they had even taken her Bible from her. This letter was written on the title page of one of George Ellot's novels, and was signed "Mrs. Jack Wilmerding." Some of the letters were not fit for publication.

As each letter was read Mrs. Wilmerding would shake her head. Dr. Dold continued that Mrs. Wilmerding was suffering from a competent person to manage her business affairs. The insanity had probably been coming on for years, he said, the symptoms not being those caused by alcoholism. In the cross-examination Dr. Dold admitted that he had left Bloomingdale partly from the fact that he had shapped one of the attendants at the institution. He said that he had examined Mrs. Wilmerding this morning for about twenty minutes and he found her in about the same condition as when he left the institution in June. He said he did not detect any delusions but considered her insane as yet, and it would not be safe to release her. In the custody of June. He said he did not detect any delusions but considered her insane as yet, and it would not be safe to release her. In the custody of some friends as she would be liable to return to her former habits.

After a recess for an hour Dr. Charles E. Atwesd, the assistant superintendent of Bioomingdale Asylum, was called. He testifled as to the history of Mrs. Wilmerding's case from the time he had assumed Dr. Dold's position, which was a repetition of the latter's testinosity. He further said that she longed for eigarettes and various liquors. She had asked that her husband be asked for money. She mony. He further said that she longed for cigarettes and various liquors. She had asked that her husband be asked for money. She tool him that she had been hypnotized by a hair dresser in Italy. Dr. Atwood further said that Mrs. Wilmerding had not recovered and he believed that her brain was inheritedly delective and he did not think she would recover. Dr. Austin Flint of New York was next called. He testited that he had examined Mrs. Wilmerding on two occasions, and it was his opinion that she was incapable of managing herbeil or her property. Upon the cross-examination he said that one of his reasons for reaching such a conclusion was her statement that reif or her property. Upon the cross-examination he said that one of his reasons for reaching such a conclusion was her statement that her family had Jorced herinto marriage and her statements of her relations with her husband before their marriage. These statements he considered untrue, and if she were set free it would be a great calamity and her ruin. He said that she was not suffering from alcoholism now.

Dr. Allen Fitch of the Department of Charities and Correction testified that Mrs. Wilmerding was mentally unsound and incapable of managing her property. If discharged she would have a relapse and it would ruin her life. Lawyer Bach suggested that the family board her with some private family, to which the doctor replied that it would take from $250 to $1,000 a week. He thought that if she remained in the asylum for six months more she might be cured, but if released she would soon ruin herself. If she went upon the stage, he said, she would be a wreck in three weeks.

The Commissioners then adjourned for one week.

The nurse was struck with the soldier's evident weakness, and volunteered to bring him to New York. She paid his car fare to Long Island City and helped him across the ferry. Late last night she brought him to Bellevue Hospital. Illingworth is a big fellow, and the plucky nurse almost carried him into the hospital. The soldier has malarial fever and is in a serious condition.

MILITARY GIRLS IN A PET.

Fourth Rentucky Daughters of the Regiment Can't Agree, and There Is Trouble. LEXINOTON, Ry., Aug. 25.-There is trouble setween the daughters of the regiment of the Fourth Kentucky, and they will not here-after occupy the same tent. Ten days ago, Miss Mattie Marion, who was the original daughter of the regiment, became offended at Miss Genevieve Farley, who was her chum and who had become daughter of the regiment with her, because Miss Farley's uniform was prettier than her own. She had a good ery and they made friends, but a few days later a handsome Lieutenant who had been paying particular attention to Miss Marion began to show attention to Miss Farley. To add to Miss Marion's mortification, when a flag was presented to the regiment, Lieut.-Col. Murray. who was in command, forgot to present Miss Marion to the men, and when she walked away with her uncle, Capt, Trendway, Col. black puff tie, and a large straw walking hat, trimmed with black ribbons and feathers. As furray happened to think that the regiment had a daughter. He looked for Miss Marion but, failing to see her, presented Miss Farley as the daughter of the regiment.

Miss Marion was furious when she learned how her rival had been presented and she had been overlooked. She snubbed Miss Farley the next time they met, and Miss Farley's father went to her and asked an explanation She could not give any excuse for her action, but declared that no tent was big enough to hold them both, and so Col. Colson has decided that each young woman shall have a tent of her own in the new division camp to which the Fourth has been ordered.

Gen. Sanger may be appealed to by Miss Marion's friends and relatives in the regiment to exclude Miss Fariey, as they hold she is not the daughter of the regiment; that Miss Marion alone has a right to the title of "daughter of the regiment,"

Miss Farley's father and friends will resent this interference, and it looks as if serious trouble may result from having two daughters of the regiment.

GIRL TEACHERS SAVE BOY'S LIFE. The Misses Brandels Jump Overboard from a Yacht-One Boy Drowned.

ROCKAWAY BRACH, Aug. 25 .- A merry party of fifteen young women went out on Jamaica Bay on Wednesday afternoon on the sloop yacht Madge, sailed by Capt. Dodge. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndeman. The yacht was speeding along before a stiff breeze when the party, which was at luncheon, was startled by a cry from Miss Carrie Brandels, who was standing in the bow. The next in stant the sharp prow of the yacht cut into a rowboat which had attempted to cross its course. Frank Daly, who had been rowing the small boat, grasped bobstay and drew himself upon the bowsprit of the yacht. In a twinkling the wreck of the rowboat swept past and the forms of two young boys were seen struggling far white shirt waist and crash skirt, leaped from astern. Miss Brandeis, who was dressed in a white shirt waist and crash skirt, leaped from the yacht and swam to the nearest boy, Harry McCarthy, 13 years old. He threw his arms about her neck and dragged her under.

When they came up she said: "If you don't let go of me I'll let you drown." He let go.

Miss Brandeis held him under the arms and sustained hersell by treading water. Within a few feet of her rose the other lad who had been in the boat, William Keily, a playmate of Harry McCarthy. He had been stunned by the collision. He sank before aid could reach him.

Miss Ottilie Brandeis, when she saw her sister leap overboard, had kicked off her shoes, and plunged into the water. Bhe swam to the wrecked rowboat, and pushed it toward her sister. Miss Carrie boosted Harry McCarthy into it, and then clung to the side. Miss Ottilie was swept away by the strong tide, but kept affoat until picked up in an exhausted condition by Capt. William Mills and Capt. Gus Hennie, who came to her rescue in a skiff. Meanwhile Miss Carrie Brandeis and Harry McCarthy were rescued from their perilous position by August Eckman, who pulled to the spot in a skiff. Capt. Dodge hove the yacht to as quickly as possible. Besides himself there was only one other man aboard and he could not swim.

The Misses Brandeis are both Normal College graduates and the daughters of Mr. Frederick Brandeis of New York. Miss Carrie is 24 years old. She teaches in Grammar School No. 72, at 106th street and Lexington avenue.

Miss Ottilio is a very pretty brunette of 26, and a teacher af School No. 43, at Amsterdam avenue and 128th street. Several of the women in the party went into hysteries.

The young women are none the worse for their trying experience, but they bitterly regist their inability to save the life of the little fellow who drowned before they could reach him. To-night they are being overwhelmed with congratulations by the residents of Arverne, where they are visiting. Experienced boatmen who have been on the water all their lives say they PITTSFIELD, Aug. 25 .- The two days' rains have placed the links of the Stockbridge Golf Club in a bad condition for the open tourns-Gub in a bad condition for the open tournament now in progress. The links are covered with pools of water, and some of the holes have been moved to make play possible. A temporary bridge has been built on one part of the links, to allow the players to pass over a part which has been overflowed by the Housatonic River. The Greens Committee has done everything possible for the drainage of the wet grounds and has kept men at work all day digging trenches to carry off the water. Under the conditions the play was not as good as it otherwise would have been. Among the interested spectators were the Hon. Joseph H. as it otherwise would have been. Among the interested spectators were the Hon. Joseph H. Choate and Prescott Hall Butler. The play today opened with the semi-finals for the Stockbridge Cup, in which J. H. Choate, Jr., beat G. C. Clark, I up, and T. M. Robertson beat J. F. Curtis, I up. To-morrow the winners play in the finals of thirty-six holes.

This afternoon the qualifying round, at handicap medal play, for the Red Lion Cup, was decided. The scores follow:

The first four qualified, but Choate withdrew. In the semi-finals Horton beat Clark by 6 up and 4 to play, and Morton beat Sautter by 4 up and 3 to play. The finals will be played tomorrow. BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 25 .- The play in the emi-finals of the Hinkle Cup tournament today was attended by very bad weather. Rain day was attended by very bad weather. Rain fell throughout the morning matches, and the scores of the contestants were very much affected thereby. At the conclusion of yesterday's play the following four men were left in: J. G. Thorp of the Cambridge Golf Club, Arden M. Bobins of St. Andrew's. C. G. Condon of Tuxedo, and C. L. Tappan of St. Andrew's. The first pair to start out this morning were Tappan and Condon. The St. Andrew's man conceded 3 strokes to his opponent on the eightsen holes. At the conclusion of the first round Condon stood 3 up and the game well in hand. The match of the morning, however, was that between J. G. Thorp and Arden M. Robins.

was that between J. G. Thorp and Arden M. Robins.

Both men gave a very pretty exhibition of golf at certain stages. Their final scores were fairly close to the record. Thorp showed a wonderful accuracy in his puts, and several times holed out in a marvellous fashion. Both men had few poor drives credited against them, and both missed an easy chance by falling on the green. Outside of this, however, their force and play were excellent. Thorp finally won out by 2 up and 1 to play. There was a question as to the eighth hole, which was finally decided as halved. Thorp in addressing his ball accidentally touched it, and thereby lost an opportunity of winning by 4 up. The Condon-Tappan match was finally won by the former by 2 up and 1 to play. Condon and Thorp will meet in the finals to-morrow in a thirty-six-hole match to decide the tournament.

TROTTING AND PACING. John Nolan, Helen Grace and Argetta the Winners at Glens Falls.

GLENS FALLS, Aug. 25.—The third day of the Grand Circuit meeting offered some encouragement and brought out more persons than on any of the preceding days. Notwithstand-ing the track was drenched by the severe storm last night and again this forenoon, it was brought into fair condition at 3:40 o'clock when the horses in the 2:40 class for two-yearold trotters were called up for their second heat. Handspring, notwithstanding he had acted badly in the first heat on Tuesday, still remained the favorite. On the first turn Delmar broke and fell back. Down the backstretch Helen Grace, Buth Clark and Handsoring moved side by side, making a very pretty race. On the last turn Ruth flew up, and in a neck-and-neck race the colt broke and Helen Grace won. In the 2:30 trot John Nolan had no difficulty in eapturing the third heat. On the last turn h pulled out and went by the bunch. The 2:15 pace was decidedly spirited during the first two heats. Flirt made a good try for the money, but each time was unable to reach the wire first. In the last heat she broke badly and got the flag. Young Bob Fitusimmons Goes a Fast Half Durroux, Aug. 25,—The weather was perfect and about 0,000 persons witnessed the sport at Nutwood Park. The assin interest was in the three-year-old pare, in which Klatawah and Airship were favorites. The former won in straight heats, in the first of which Bob Fitzsimmons went to the half in 1.501%. The defeat of Don Quitorie in the 5:00 pace by Fanny Putnam was the surprise of the day. Honnellaville, Aug. 25.—Thirty thousand persons visited the Hornellaville Exposition to-day. A heavy rains at noon made the track muddy, but it dried off quickly. Jim Smith won the 2:30 trot with ease, although Little Rose captured as heat. The 2:30 pace was captured by Shanile, although Wayside and Gov. Bushnell pushed him hard in every heat. Dower was bairred from starting in the race because of an unpaid fine at some other meeting. Summaries follow:

PUGILIST SCOTT MAY DIE. After Meeting Butler He Becomes Uncon scious-Police Make Arrests. The second preliminary bout at the boxing show of the Greenwood A. C. of Brooklyn last night was between Tommy Butler and Alec Scott, both Brooklyn middleweights, for ten rounds, at catchweights. Scott seemed to be strong, but his knowledge of the game was confined to random swings and clinches. In the strong, but his knowledge of the game was confined to random swings and clinches. In the sixth round Butler downed Scott with a heavy right on the jaw. Scott was groggy, but he managed to keep his feet. He was floored once more. Butler scored two more knockdowns in the seventh round, but couldn't finish his antagonist. Scott punched Butler in the eighth round and Butler began to hug. Scott had the better of it in the ninth round for the first two minutes, but got careless and was nut to the boards again. Butler hammered Scott without let-up in the tenth round. Referee Joseph Ward then ordered Butler to his corner, and he received the decision. Scott seemed to be badly whipped.

Scott became unconscious as soon as he returned to his dressing room and had not come to at a late hour last night. Dr. Hart, the club's physician, who examined Scott before he entered the ring, pronounced him to be in good health. Hart and several of the officials worked hard over the prostrated boxer, but their efforts were of no avail. Scott was then taken to the Norwegian Hospital. Forty-sixth street and Fourth avenue, in an ambulance. Dr. Hart afterward told the reporter of This Sux that Scott was suffering from concussion of the brain, possibly as a result of a blow and heat exhaustion.

The police arrested Tommy Butler and his three seconds, Dennis Fitzgerald, Alfred Budolph, and George McGilligan, all of Brooklyn, and William Mack, one of Scott's seconds, and John O'Brien, the time-keeper. The other man in Scott's corner got away. The police will also arrest Referee Ward, they say.

Jimmy Tuily of New York and Kid Truman of Brooklyn furnished the first till of ten rounds at 110 pounds. The result was a draw.

The atar bout of the night was between Tommy Sullivan and Charley Kelly, seheculed for twenty rounds. Kelly's seconds were Sammy Harris. John Sullivan, sattendanits were Andy Waish, Jack Colyer, and Terry McGovern. They agreed on a clean break. In the sixth round Sullivan held on to Kelly, threw him, and wrestled until it lo
